Colloque Competency 2 : the REAL DEAL

Description:

Don’t miss out on the first annual conference dedicated entirely to helping teachers demystify the C2 competency in English: The Real Deal is a unique workshop experience geared towards helping English teachers solidify, practice and teach reinvestment tasks in classrooms everywhere.
Dynamic interactions pertaining to planning, differentiation and evaluation in friendly workshop settings, are on the menu. Come along and take part in activities that best suit your needs; we offer hands-on workshops for elementary cycle 3, as well as cycles 1 and 2 at the high school level.

Évaluation en temps de la participation: 6h

Colloque Competency 2 : the REAL DEAL

1 - Integrate three pedagogical practices related to reinvestment tasks as soon as I come back to school. Identify your actions and explain your choices.

The linguistic passport
Online escape games
Paying attention to agism in my lessons

2 - Experiment two new concepts learned in the workshops in the next school year. Identify the new concepts (one for each workshop) and name the changes required to make these changes.

The linguistic passport is a cool way for students to not only accomplish taks in class, but outside of class as well. The idea of things to get done just might motivate them to actually accomplish the tasks. Furthermore, it sometimes get their family and friends involved.

The online escape game might require a little bit more work on my part as I have to get accustomed to an online website that will help me accomplish this.

3 - Develop a better understanding of one element that was discussed during the day. Name the element.

Agism is something that really spoke to me. I did not realize how present it was around us. It has opened my eyes to the fact that I'm surrounded by it at school, and the people being agist don't even realize it.
